May Remain Open if No
Heat or Light is Used
(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 22.—The United States fuel administration will not compel any place of business to keep closed on heatless Monday provided they use no heat, light or power.

But, if a business man wants to comply strictly with the order he will keep his place of business locked on Monday.

This is a summary of an announcement issued by the office of Evans Woollen, state fuel administrator today in response to hundreds of questions for instructions from over the state.

Industries east of the Mississippi river will open tomorrow, but coal is reaching Rushville no faster than it did before the shutdown orders of the national fuel administration went into effect. The fuel administrator, S. L. Trabue, is optimistic and says he believes Rush county will begin to see the effects of the shutdown the last of this week or the first of next.

Not all of the factories will open here tomorrow, because three of them are without sufficient fuel to operate.

The domestic fuel situation was not improved today, and although the weather moderated slightly, cold weather is predicted for tonight and tomorrow. Only one car of coal reached here today and was soon sold.

All places of amusement, including theaters, pool rooms and bowling alleys were closed here today in lieu of closing yesterday, when other mercantile establishments were closed.

Although exempted from the five day shutdown and Monday closing, because they are filling war orders, the Charles E. Francis factory is not yet open and may not open tomorrow if coal is not received. Innis-Pearce's furniture factory will not open in the morning unless coal is received this evening and neither

ROOSEVELT ENTERS MELEE IN CONGRESS

Announces in Interview That he Will
Assail Those Behind
Inefficiency

CABINET BILL MAY NOT PASS

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 22.—The fight developing between President Wilson and congress about the Chamberlain war cabinet bill advanced today.

Col. Roosevelt plunged into the melee immediately upon arriving in Washington. He asked a conference with Chamberlain and in a short interview said he was there to assail those who upheld inefficiency.

There is little hope, even among its strongest friends that the war cabinet will pass either house, in the face of the bitter hostility of the administration.

Railroads Are Clogged as Fuel Order Expires

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 22.—Heavy snows along the eastern seaboard today dealt a staggering blow to the national railroad.

With the Garfield industrial suspension order at an end tonight, transportation throughout the country east of the Mississippi was hopelessly clogged with no chance to dig itself out in the face of further trying weather.

Conference between the fuel and railroad administration officers were held today to determine upon the next step.

Continued shortage of fuel today failed to develop further constructive ideas to meet the crisis. It was officially declared that there will be no general embargo for the present date on the freight shipment now clogging the lines.

At Director General McAdoo's office today it was stated that he is studying the need for possible curtailment of the passenger service along with numerous other plans. There is little likelihood that this step will be taken immediately however, though the demand for it is increasing.

will be the Park furniture factory begin operations unless fuel arrives. Walter Pearce of the last named plant was in Indianapolis today to try to get some coal through. Case's planing mill and the Rushville furniture factory have coal and are ready to open tomorrow. Pinnell-Tompkins will not open their planing mill tomorrow, but the lumber yards will be open.

The Rush County mills have not yet started their plant though exempted because they are manufacturing food. They intended to run tonight this week, but have not started because they do not want to draw so heavily on the gas supply while the fuel situation is critical. They use a gas engine for power.

Hopes for warmer weather based on today's rising temperature are shattered by the weather man's prediction for tonight—"fair tonight and somewhat colder in north and central portion. Wednesday, fair and continued cold."

Today's temperature had moderated considerably, according to the government thermometer and by noon had reached 17 above zero. Last night the mercury did not drop so low as it had for the past few nights, the lowest mark being one degree above zero. This is fourteen degrees higher than the coldest point during the previous night and 20 degrees warmer than it was on Saturday night. At seven o'clock this morning the mercury had mounted to 6 above zero, registering a 11 degrees climb in the following five hours time.

All of the rural route men succeeded in covering their routes yesterday. The roads in some places, however, are still in a very bad condition according to the carriers and farmers who have driven to the city. Mails are running more nearly on time now than they have for two weeks, according to the postal authorities. The early morning C. I. & W. train was only a very little late this morning whereas for the past two weeks it has been several hours late each morning. With several trains annulled, the only mails going west now from the postoffice are the mail trains at 12 o'clock midnight and at 2:50 in the afternoon.

C. Fuller Winters Killed When Camp
Funston Bank is Robbed

C. Fuller Winters, one of the men who was killed at Camp Funston when the army bank was robbed and four men were killed, was probably the Mr. Winters who spent several weeks in this city in June 1916 as bank examiner and made a number of friends in the city at that time. No one here has received definite word that it was the same Mr. Winters. However, the account gives his name as C. F. Winters. It is known here that the C. F. Winters who had visited here had entered the service and was a bank clerk which answers the description of the man who was killed.

Indiana Senator, Foe of Government

McAdoo That is Favorable

It was Senator James E. Watson of this city who drew an answer from William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury and director-general of the railroads under government operation, regarding his opinion of government ownership, at the hearing before the interstate commerce committee of the senate in Washington yesterday, according to United Press dispatches to the Daily Republican.

Senator Watson is a member of the interstate commerce committee and is an outspoken foe of government ownership. McAdoo's statement that he does not believe in government ownership was in answer to a question of Senator Watson.

"Mr. Secretary, do you believe in government ownership?" asked Watson.

"I do not," replied McAdoo. "But I believe it will be impossible to return to conditions as they were before the government stepped in. There will have to be a greater measure of government control than

CHURCHES PLAN FUTURE POLICY

Decide to Hold Union Services Sunday Nights as a Fuel Conserva-

LAYMEN AND MINISTERS MEET

Federal Council May be Continued
to Decide Important Problems
of Churches

Important changes in the plans of the Protestant churches of the city, necessitated by the fuel shortage, were made at the meeting of the ministerial association and laymen held in the sheriff's office at the court house last evening when about 20 laymen were present, aside from the ministers. The morning church services will continue as usual; the evening services will be union; a federal council may be continued when the laymen will meet with the ministers to decide upon important church problems; the church will aid in every manner possible during the crisis; and the church interest will be doubled instead of slackened during the present struggle.

Concerning the meeting which was marked by its enthusiasm, the following report has been given by the president of the ministerial association:

A fine united and enthusiastic spirit was shown in the short addresses made by twenty different men some half dozen of whom spoke twice. The following things are noteworthy in all of these speeches. First, that in the face of the great world crisis when the world seems falling to pieces, the first thing to be considered is the church of the living God. That war will never be won and will not be worth the winning and the world will never be safe, except that we put the kingdom of Christ first. And that instead of slackening our efforts in that direction, this is the time for redoubling our service and loyalty.

Second, that as representatives of the various protestant churches of this city we are zealous to perform every patriotic duty incumbent upon us in the present national and world crisis, that we do not want to wait to be urged to do our part but are anxious to co-operate in every good movement even to the extent of sacrifice, and seek to find every added thing we may do. In the present fuel shortage we are not only glad to co-

HIS CONDITION IMPROVED

Word Received Concerning Condition of Lieut. Walter Gartin

The latest word received concerning the condition of Lieutenant Walter Gartin, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gartin, who is critically ill with pneumonia and is in a base hospital at Camp Taylor, Ky., was the message last evening stating that there was a very slight improvement. The Rev. C. J. Bunnell of the First Baptist church received the wire. He is still very low but with even slight signs of improvement, his many friends here feel encouragement over his prospects for recovery. Mr. and Mrs. Gartin have gone to Camp Taylor to be at the bedside of their son.

TWENTY-NINE MORE FOR PHYSICAL TEST

Call Issued to Registrants Today
For Examination to be Conducted Next Tuesday

NO REPORT OF MONDAY TESTS

Medical Advisory Board, However,
Reports on Five Cases, Holding Four For Service

Names of registrants classified yesterday will be found on page 4. Those to be examined next Tuesday and rulings of the medical advisory board are on page 2.

Twenty-nine more registrants were called for physical examination next Tuesday by the county army selection board today.

The board had no report yet today on the physical examination of twenty yesterday. Dr. W. S. Coleman, physician member of the board conducted the tests Monday, but has not reported to the other members of the board. Twenty more are called for examination tomorrow.

The board classified seventy-one registrants yesterday, making a total of 1211 cases acted upon to date. Yesterday nineteen were placed in class one, bringing the number placed in this class by the local board up to 414. Nine were placed in class two, thirty-five in class four and eight in five.

One of the thirteen in class one was put there by reason of a reclassification. Elmer Darnell of Rushville had previously been put in class two, but yesterday was moved up to one by the board.

The board found the first alien enemy yesterday. He is Thomas Ragola, who registered at Carthage, but who now lives in Chicago. He waived all claims to deferred classification because he is an alien enemy, but the board put him in class five anyway because definite instructions have been received to use care in seeing that no alien enemies are inducted into the national army. The board recently received a letter from the Chicago police asking for Ragola's registration number. This is evidence that Ragola was suspected in Chicago.

Although having no report from the examination yesterday, the board today received reports in five cases which were sent to the medical advisory board. Of the five one was rejected and four were held for service.

The regular meeting of the Loyal Daughters Sunday school class of the Main Street Christian church will be held this evening with Miss Rema Mahin, 830 North Morgan street.

The first twins born in Rush county during 1918 that have been reported were the baby girls born this morning to the wife of Jesse Smith of South Pearl street.

FOUND GUILTY OF CARTHAGE THEFT

Charles Yeager and George Clark
Are Sentenced to Terms of
From 2 to 14 Years

JURY OUT ONLY 15 MINUTES

Yeager Goes to State Prison at
Michigan City and Clark to Re-
formatory at Jeffersonville

Charles Yeager and George Clark were found guilty of stealing about $200 worth of merchandise from S. L. Newsom's store in Carthage early Monday morning, December 10, by a jury in circuit court yesterday evening. The jury deliberated about fifteen minutes and Judge Will M. Sparks promptly pronounced sentence.

Yeager was sent to the Indiana state prison at Michigan City for a period of two to fourteen years and Clark will have to serve the same sentence in the state reformatory at Jeffersonville. Both men will be given a few days to arrange their affairs before their sentences begin.

Both men admitted the merchandise found in their room was that missing from Newsom's store, but the jury evidently did not think much of their defense that they were drunk and did not remember what they were during the hours the robbery is supposed to have occurred.

The state brought out that Yeager and Clark, when they learned that Newsom's store had been robbed, did not go to the owner and tell him they had the goods and would return them. The state gave both men the opportunity to explain why, if they did not remember robbing the store, they fixed up a suit case of the merchandise to send to Yeager's wife in Massachusetts. By their own testimony, the two defendants admitted they had discussed the matter of informing Mr. Newsom they had the merchandise, but that they had not said anything to him about it, even three days after the robbery when they were arrested.

Harry King, 17, Admits Theft of
$185 at Isaac Gross' Home, But
McCugh Says He's Innocent

ENTER PLEAS SEPARATELY

Harry King, 17, has pleaded guilty in circuit court to the charge of stealing $185, secreted in a tin can, from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Gross near Maunzy, last Saturday, but his alleged accomplice, Sefton McCugh, 23, entered a plea of not guilty and his trial has been set for Friday morning in circuit court. McCugh's bond was fixed at $1,000, which he was unable to give, and he is still in jail.

The young men were arraigned separately and neither knew what the other pleaded. They are not allowed to see each other in the jail. King, who is nothing more than a boy, is said to have confessed the theft and implicated McCugh.

McCugh's surname was given as John after his arrest on an I. & C. car at New Palestine Sunday night. He carried a slip of paper with that name on it and the deputy sheriff presumed that was his name. It is his brother's name. King was arrested yesterday afternoon as he started to board a train for his home at New Point.

we have had in the past."

McAdoo told the committee a million dollars must be advanced to the railroads for improvements before they will be on an effective war basis.

Within 30 days, application of the Garfield Monday holiday orders may be discontinued, he continued. He stated the holiday will not be necessary beyond the middle of February.

McAdoo had no direct plan in the composition of the Garfield shut-down order to save fuel, he told the committee.

"I had no hand in its composition," said McAdoo, "Though I approved it in principle."

Mr. McAdoo said his survey of the rail situation convinced him that government funds must go into them to make them efficient for the war plans.

Red Cross Notes

One of the best attendances of societies at the Red Cross headquarters ever held, was yesterday afternoon when forty women of the St. Paul's Methodist church worked in the various departments at the headquarters in the court house.

The members of the Red Cross Auxiliary of Anderson township resumed their work in the headquarters in Milroy this afternoon after the rooms being closed for a week on account of the cold weather. During the time the headquarters were closed, however, a large amount of sewing was done at the homes of the members.

APPEAL FOR OSTEOPATHS

An appeal has been sent to several persons in this city urging their aid in securing the passage of the osteopathic bill before congress, which provides that osteopaths may be examined for commissions in the army. According to these appeals, the bill is before congress for the benefit of many soldiers who without osteopathic treatment would never have been able to have passed the army examinations and who now are unable to obtain such treatment.

Scarcity of Live Stock

For some time now it has been apparent to those who have given the matter thought, that the country is threatened with an alarming shortage of live stock—especially meat producing animals, though horses and mules are also showing a shortage.

When the war in Europe first began, it was suggested by our agricultural department that our farmers and stock raisers devote greater attention to increasing the number of meat animals. It was pointed out that the large foreign demand would make great inroads in our supply. This was the result, but not all the result. The stimulated demand caused prices to soar to abnormal figures. These prices in turn caused all who had stock to push them onto the market at the earliest moment, with the result that thousands of head of stock went to the butchers when it should have been kept on the farms.

Stock buyers inform us that for the past years the average weight of hogs especially has steadily declined, due to the fact that the heavy feeders have been practically exhausted and the lighter animals are being pushed onto the market.

At a meeting of food administrators of a number of states recently it was the unanimous decision, after surveying the situation carefully, that a concerted effort must be made to increase the breeding of hogs and cattle, and each state represented in the conference was given its per cent of increase to be attained.

But it is right at this point that the difficulty is encountered. The high prices have not only caused the immature animals to be sacrificed but thousands of valuable females have been slaughtered which should have been kept on the farms. There is not a particle of doubt that the country is alarmingly short of breeders.

There is but one remedy. No owner of hogs or cattle should sell or kill females capable of reproducing their kind. This should be made an iron-clad rule on the farms and ranches of this country for some time to come. Certain it is that if the post, or even the present rate of consumption of females is continued for another twelve months, the country will face something little short of a meat famine.

We are a meat-eating race. But meat must be grown and the animals must have dams. The only way to insure the supply is to conserve the females. This will have to be done, even at the risk of even higher prices than now prevail.

And, as prices now range, this will be no sacrifice to the farmers, but rather a source of greater revenue, as all will see if they will look at the matter in the right light.

In a weekly magazine of October 6, 1917, Edward G. Lowry wrote an article on "The Emerging Mr. Baker." Undoubtedly if he were to write an article about the secretary of war now, his title would be "The Submerging Mr. Baker."

Uncle Sam is discovering that his back-door needs watching, too. The innate cussedness of the greaser nature won't let them be good long.

King Ferdinand has decided to give his son the throne of Rumania. It is not stated what crime the young men is guilty of to deserve such severe punishment.

If we were as willing to leave the punishment of our enemies in the hands of the Lord as we are the rewarding of our friends, there would be less strife in this old world.

Love For a Woman
Inspired The Poet

Mrs. Demarchus Brown Deals With Intimate Life of Shakespeare in Lecture Before The Monday Circle. In Sonnets As In Not Others Of His Works Does He Strike Depth Of His Own Feelings, She Says.

"In the sonnets and poems as in no others of his works does Shakespeare strike the depths of his own feelings. Here his own heart is laid bare and as Wordsworth has said in them we have the key to his heart. The objective is forgotten and we meet most intimately the innermost secrets of Shakespeare's life," said Mrs. Demarchus Brown of Indianapolis in her talk yesterday afternoon before the members of the Monday Circle, who met at the home of Mrs. Guy Abercrombie in North Perkins street. Mrs. Brown's entire talk was intensely interesting as she dealt with the incidents of the life of the writer and showed plainly how they had been responsible for many of the themes and characterizations in his plays, his poems and his sonnets.

Practically all of the members were present at the meeting.

February 4th is the date for the next meeting. It will be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Innis in North Harrison street and the program will include sketches from "Richard III" and from "Henry V."

"There are three intense passions in men's lives which help shape their destinies," began Mrs. Brown in her lecture, "and these passions are the love of power, of money, and of the opposite sex. We must remember in dealing with Shakespeare that he is not a writer of our own time, that he did not live in the Puritan period. He represents the reaction and the joyous abandon that characterized the last voice of the robust Renaissance.

"Shakespeare came to London in 1515," continued Mrs. Brown as she gave some of the facts of the writer's life, making the writing of his poems more realistic and interesting because of her wide knowledge of Shakespeare's career. "In 1598 we have the first mention of a sonnet being written but none of them was published until as late as 1609. Thomas Thorpe was the publisher of this first collection." Mrs. Brown spoke then of the publication of many of his works, telling how they had been collected and by whom. "In this period the sonnet was the fashionable style of verse which perhaps explains why Shakespeare wrote this particular type at

Red Blooded People Live The Longest

Red blooded people retain their youth and vigor until late in life because red blood ages slowly.

A child with impure blood seems old, while an old man with pure red ironized blood seems young.

Impure blood clogs the system with waste matters, rapidly aging body, mind and spirit.

Pure blood is red blood, rich in iron and phosphates with power to rid itself of waste matter and able to carry life giving oxygen to every cell and nerve. It makes both young and old, bright, happy, keen, and interested in life. This is the blood you need, every day of your life, the rich red blood made by pure food, fresh air, restful sleep and "Phosphated Iron" from the red blood and nerve builder.

Phosphated Iron enriches your blood and nerves putting them in shape for work. Improves your color, increases your appetite and gives you strength, vigor and power to enjoy both work and pleasure, makes you feel like doing things once more.

Phosphate Iron is prescribed by leading doctors for all who are worn out, run down, nervous, weak and thin blooded people in all walks of life, they have learned to depend on it for honest results.

Special Notice—To insure physicians and their patients receiving the genuine Phosphated Iron, we have put in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to substitute pill or tablets, insist on the genuine, in capsules only.—PITMAN & WILSON and leading Druggists everywhere. Rushville, Ind. (Adv.)

Thirty members of the Young Women's Mission Circle of the Main Street Christian church were present at the meeting which was held last night at the home of Miss Wanda Wyatt in North Main street. Mrs. Ida Barringer had charge of the Bible Study, after which Mrs. Wilfred Grindle read an interesting paper on "Africa," and the work the Mission Circle is assisting in accomplishing there. A short musical program which was given by the Misses Janet Dean and Mary Louise Wyatt completed the program.

Assisting the hostess were Miss Laura Hilden, Miss Prudence Pope and Miss Margaret Gallimore. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Boys in West Seventh street, February 11.

The meetings of the girls war relief organization of the high school have been called off entirely until the weather moderates. The meetings were to be held at the homes of the members and at the school, alternately, owing to the fuel conservation plans at the high school and because many homes are not well heated at present, the sessions have been discontinued for a few weeks.

Mrs. Walter Conaway of North Morgan street will be hostess to the members of the Loyal Woman's Bible class of the Main street Christian church, when the regular meeting will be held, tomorrow evening. The hostess will be assisted by Miss Emma Casady and as important business matters will be discussed the officers are especially desirous of a good attendance.

The life and works of Alfred Tennyson furnished, the interesting subject for the meeting of the

this time.

"Shakespeare's works were not great because of their literary value and of the material expression alone," she said. "They were great because the man had lived and felt. He spoke from the depth of a profound human experience. Imitation will not produce art or influence the world—only the words that come from experience. There comes a time when all of the success, all of the business, and business, some times fails to fill the place created in every human heart, that longing for human love. This hunger came into the heart of Shakespeare and the friendship of William Herbert, a young man of his time, filled the place."

Mrs. Brown then gave a discussion of the varying views of just who W. H., to whom several references are made, was thought to be. Most evidences point to the fact, however, that the person was William Herbert. A number of Shakespeare sonnets were dedicated to this young Mr. Herbert, the Earl of Pembroke.

A vivid picture of Shakespeare, the butcher's son, in court life of London and how he had climbed to a prominent position among the aristocratic circles of London was painted by the speaker. Michael Angelo and Shakespeare, the two great geniuses of their time, however, always had to pay homage to the young men of much less ability because of the fact they had had higher birth.

Mary Pittin, who is thought to be the woman after whom many of Shakespeare's women are modelled, was described by the speaker. A woman two years Shakespeare's senior and a striking brunette type, she stands out in her different moods in many of Shakespeare's plays.

"In fact," said Mrs. Brown, "she is the only woman who is described definitely by the writer."

The writer's love affair with her several years after his marriage to Anne Hathaway, the way in which she betrayed him for the Earl of Pembroke, the faith of the lover and the way in which it was broken were all pictured by the speaker.

"And yet it cannot be denied that even if she was untrue, she gave him more than he lost. She 'made' Shakespeare, inspiring the theme in many of his works and showing him all sides of woman as he did not know before."

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 22.—The United States fuel administration will not compel any place of business to keep closed on heatless Monday provided they use no heat, light or power.

But, if a business man wants to comply strictly with the order he will keep his place of business locked on Monday.

This is a summary of an announcement issued by the office of Evans Woolen, state fuel administrator today in response to hundreds of questions for instructions from over the state.

Industries east of the Mississippi river will open tomorrow, but coal is reaching Rushville no faster than it did before the shutdown orders of the national fuel administration went into effect. The fuel administrator, S. L. Trabue, is optimistic and says he believes Rush county will begin to see the effects of the shutdown the last of this week or the first of next.

Not all of the factories will open here tomorrow, because three of them are without sufficient fuel to operate.

The domestic fuel situation was not improved today, and although the weather moderated slightly, cold weather is predicted for tonight and tomorrow. Only one car of coal reached here today and was soon sold.

All places of amusement, including theaters, pool rooms and bowling alleys were closed here today in lieu of closing yesterday, when other mercantile establishments were closed.

Although exempted from the five day shutdown and Monday closing, because they are filling war orders, the Charles E. Francis factory is not yet open and may not open tomorrow if coal is not received. In his Pearce's furniture factory will not open in the morning unless coal is received this evening, and neither

Assail Those Behind
Inefficiency

CABINET BILL MAY NOT PASS

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 22.—The fight developing between President Wilson and congress about the Chamberlain war cabinet bill advanced today.

Col. Roosevelt plunged into the melee immediately upon arriving in Washington. He asked a conference with Chamberlain and in a short interview said he was there to assail those who held inefficiency.

There is little hope, even among the strongest friends of the war cabinet, that the bill will pass this session, in the face of the possibility of the

Railroads Are Clogged as Fuel Order Expires

(By United Press.)

Washington, Jan. 22.—Heavy snows along the eastern seaboard today dealt a staggering blow to the national railroad.

With the Garfield industrial suspension order at an end tonight, transportation throughout the country east of the Mississippi was hopelessly clogged with no chance to dig itself out in the face of further trying weather.

Conference between the fuel and railroad administration officers were held today to determine upon the next step.

Continued shortage of fuel today failed to develop further constructive ideas to meet the crisis. It was officially declared that there will be no general embargo for the present date on the freight shipment now clogging the lines.

At Director General McAdoo's office today it was stated that he is studying the need for possible curtailment of the passenger service along with numerous other plans. There is little likelihood that this step will be taken immediately however, though the demand for it is increasing.

will be the Park furniture factory begin operations unless fuel arrives. Walker Pearce of the last named plant was in Indianapolis today to try to get some coal through. Case's planing mill and the Rushville furniture factory have coal and are ready to open tomorrow. Pinnell-Tompkins will not open their planing mill tomorrow, but the lumber yards will be open.

The Rush County mills have not yet started their plant though exempted because they are manufacturing food. They intended to run nights this week, but have not started because they do not want to draw so heavily on the gas supply while the fuel situation is critical. They use a gas engine for power.

Hopes for warmer weather based on today's rising temperature are shattered by the weather man's prediction for tonight "fair tonight and somewhat colder in north and central portion. Wednesday, fair and continued cold."

Today's temperature had moderated considerably, according to the government thermometer and by noon had reached 17 above zero. Last night the mercury did not drop so low as it had for the past few nights, the lowest mark being one degree above zero. This is fourteen degrees higher than the coldest point during the previous night and 20 degrees warmer than it was on Saturday night. At seven o'clock this morning the mercury had mounted to 6 above zero, registering a 11 degrees climb in the following five hours time.

All of the rural route men succeeded in covering their routes yesterday. The roads in some places, however, are still in a very bad condition according to the carriers and farmers who have driven to the city. Mails are running more nearly on time now than they have for two weeks, according to the postal authorities. The early morning C. & W. train was only a very little late this morning, whereas for the past two weeks it has been several hours late each morning. With very few exceptions, however, the mail trains are the only ones that are running on time. The other trains are all late, and the delay is increasing.

C. Fuller Winters Killed When Camp
Funston Bank Is Robbed

C. Fuller Winters, one of the men who was killed at Camp Funston when the army bank was robbed and four men were killed, was probably the Mr. Winters who spent several weeks in this city in June 1916 as bank examiner and made a number of friends in the city at that time. No one here has received definite word that it was the same Mr. Winters. However, the account gives his name as C. F. Winters. It is known here that the C. F. Winters who had visited here had entered the service and was a bank clerk which answers the description of the man who was killed.

Senator Watson, as Member Inter-

HIS OPINION OF OWNERSHIP

Indiana Senator, Foe of Government
Operation, Gets Answer From
McAdoo That is Favorable

It was Senator James E. Watson of this city who drew an answer from William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury and director general of the railroads under government operation, regarding his opinion of government ownership, at the hearing before the interstate commerce committee of the senate in Washington yesterday, according to United Press dispatches to the Daily Republican.

Senator Watson is a member of the interstate commerce committee and is an outspoken foe of government ownership. McAdoo's statement that he does not believe in government ownership was in answer to a question of Senator Watson.

"Mr. Secretary, do you believe in government ownership?" asked Watson.

"I do not," replied McAdoo. "But I believe it will be impossible to return to conditions as they were before the government stepped in. There will have to be a greater measure of government control than

CHURCHES PLAN FUTURE POLICY

Decide to Hold Union Services Sunday Nights as a Fuel Conservation Measure

Federal Council May be Continued
to Decide Important Problems
of Churches

Important changes in the plans of the Protestant churches of the city, necessitated by the fuel shortage, were made at the meeting of the ministerial association and laymen held in the sheriff's office at the court house last evening when about 20 laymen were present aside from the ministers. The morning church services will continue as usual, the evening services will be union, a federal council may be continued when the laymen will meet with the ministers to decide upon important church problems; the church will aid in every manner possible during the crisis, and the church interest will be doubled instead of slackened during the present struggle.

Concerning the meeting which was marked by its enthusiasm, the following report has been given by the president of the ministerial association.

A fine united and enthusiastic spirit was shown in the short addresses made by twenty different men some half dozen of whom spoke twice. The following things are noteworthy in all of these speeches, first, that in the face of the great world crisis when the world seems falling to pieces, the first thing to be considered is the church of the living God. That war will never be won and will not be worth the winning and the world will never be safe, except that we put the kingdom of Christ first. And that instead of slackening our efforts in that direction, this is the time for redoubling our service and loyalty.

Second, that as representatives of the various protestant churches of this city we are zealous to perform every patriotic duty incumbent upon us in the present national and world crisis, that we do not want to wait to be urged to do our part but are anxious to co-operate in every good movement even to the extent of sacrifice, and seek to find every added thing we may do. In the present fuel shortage we are not only glad to co-

Former Rushville Men Meet By Accident at Los Angeles

Dr. Clyde Early, Serving as Physician While "A Man's Man" is Made Sees T. J. Geraghty

When the first part of the big battle scenes for "A Man's Man," the photoplay which was written for the film by Tom J. Geraghty, formerly of the Daily Republican, and will be shown at the Princess Wednesday and Thursday, a casualty company was called in and under the whole outfit—400 or 500 persons for insurance against death and accident for a certain sum.

The first of the battle scenes was held up until an ambulance and a physician representing the casualty company arrived. Much to Mr. Geraghty's surprise, who should come out as the physician representing the company but Dr. Clyde Early, a Rushville boy, who is a surgeon at Los Angeles, Cal. Mr. Geraghty and Dr. Early held a reunion right on the spot, neither knowing the other was within 500 miles of him. Dr. Early had been in the army and was a casualty company man.

same firm did not show up. Dr. Early remained as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Geraghty for a couple of days and they "reminisced" on the old days back home.

"But Clyde has collected a fine head of gray hair," writes Mr. Geraghty, "which well becomes him, and likewise adds color for a distinguished appearance. I have heard in the last week or so that he has performed some marvelous operations here, and has attracted considerable attention."

Mr. Geraghty said casualty insurance was necessary because most of the outfit making the picture were Mexicans.

"And a Mex is a dangerous thing," writes Mr. Geraghty. "No matter how long you release them, the moment you hand them a rifle, they shoot until every cartridge is gone, they love to handle firearms like a Penton."

Mr. Geraghty sent some pictures of himself and the staff which made the picture and they are being displayed on front of the Princess today. Mr. Geraghty says he has for some time been looking for a place to make a picture and has found it in the city of Los Angeles.

HIS CONDITION IMPROVED

Word Received Concerning Condi-
tion of Lieut. Walter Gartin

The latest word received concerning the condition of Lieutenant Walter Gartin, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gartin, who is critically ill with pneumonia and is in a base hospital at Camp Taylor, Ky., was the message last evening stating that there was a very slight improvement. The Rev. C. J. Bunnell of the First Baptist church received the wire. He is still very low but with even slight signs of improvement, his many friends here feel encouragement over his prospects for recovery. Mr. and Mrs. Gartin have gone to Camp Taylor to be at the bedside of their son.

TWENTY-NINE MORE FOR PHYSICAL TEST

Call Issued to Registrants Today
For Examination to be Conducted Next Tuesday

NO REPORT OF MONDAY TESTS

Medical Advisory Board, However,
Reports on Five Cases, Hold-
ing Four For Service

Names of registrants classified yesterday will be found on page 4. Those to be examined next Tuesday and rulings of the medical advisory board are on page 2.

Twenty-nine more registrants were called for physical examination next Tuesday by the county army selection board today.

The board had no report yet today on the physical examination of twenty yesterday. Dr. W. S. Coleman, physician member of the board conducted the tests Monday, but has not reported to the other members of the board. Twenty more are called for examination tomorrow.

The board classified seventy-one registrants yesterday, making a total of 1211 cases noted upon to date. Yesterday nineteen were placed in class one, bringing the number placed in this class by the local board up to 414. Nine were placed in class two, thirty-five in class four and eight in five.

One of the thirteen in class one was put there by reason of a reclassification. Elmer Darnell of Rushville had previously been put in class two, but yesterday was moved up to one by the board.

The board found the first alien enemy yesterday. He is Thomas Ragola, who registered at Carthage, but who now lives in Chicago. He waived all claims to deferred classification because he is an alien enemy, but the board put him in class five anyway because definite instructions have been received to use care in seeing that no alien enemies are inducted into the national army. The board recently received a letter from the Chicago police asking for Ragola's registration number. This is evidence that Ragola was suspected in Chicago.

Although having no report from the examination yesterday, the board today received reports in five cases which were sent to the medical advisory board. Of the five one was rejected and four were held for service.

The regular meeting of the Loyal Daughters Sunday school class of the Main Street Christian church will be held this evening with Miss Rena Martin, 830 North Morgan street.

FOUND GUILTY OF CARTHAGE THEFT

Charles Yeager and George Clark
Are Sentenced to Terms of
From 2 to 14 Years

JURY OUT ONLY 15 MINUTES

Yeager Goes to State Prison at
Michigan City and Clark to Re-
formatory at Jeffersonville

Charles Yeager and George Clark were found guilty of stealing about $200 worth of merchandise from S. L. Newsom's store in Carthage early Monday morning, December 10, by a jury in circuit court yesterday evening. The jury deliberated about fifteen minutes and Judge Will M. Sparks promptly pronounced sentence.

Yeager was sent to the Indiana state prison at Michigan City for a period of two to fourteen years and Clark will have to serve the same sentence in the state reformatory at Jeffersonville. Both men will be given a few days to arrange their affairs before their sentences begin.

Both men admitted the merchandise found in their room was that missing from Newsom's store, but the jury evidently did not think much of their defense that they were drunk and did not remember what they were during the hours the robbery is supposed to have occurred.

The state brought out that Yeager and Clark, when they learned that Newsom's store had been robbed, did not go to the owner and tell him they had the goods, and were afraid of him. The state gave both men the opportunity to explain why, if they did not remember robbing the store, they fixed up a suit case of the merchandise to send to Yeager's wife in Massachusetts. By their own testimony, the two defendants admitted they had discussed the matter of informing Mr. Newsom they had the merchandise, but that they had not said anything to him about it, even three days after the robbery when they were arrested.

Harry King, 17, Admits Theft of
$185 at Isaac Gross' Home, But
McCugh Says He's Innocent

ENTER PLEAS SEPARATELY

Harry King, 17, has pleaded guilty in circuit court to the charge of stealing $185, secreted in a trunk and from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Gross near Maunzy last Saturday, but his alleged accomplice, Seldon McCugh, 23, entered a plea of not guilty and his trial has been set for Friday morning in circuit court. McCugh's bond was fixed at $1,000, which he was unable to give, and he is still in jail.

The young men were arrested separately and neither knew what the other pleaded. They are now allowed to see each other in the jail, King, who is nothing more than a boy, is said to have contested the theft and implicated McCugh.

McCugh's surname was given to John after his arrest on Monday at a New England Sunday school. He carried a hip of soap with him, and one of the boys who was arrested with him, said he saw him throw it away.

The regular meeting of the Loyal Daughters Sunday school class of the Main Street Christian church will be held this evening with Miss Rena Martin, 830 North Morgan street.

we have had in the past." McAdoo told the committee a million dollars must be advanced to the railroads for improvements before they will be on an effective war basis.

Within 30 days, application of the Garfield Monday holiday orders may be discontinued, he continued. He stated the holiday will not be necessary beyond the middle of February.

McAdoo had no direct plan in the composition of the Garfield shut-down order to save fuel, he told the committee.

"I had no hand in its composition," said McAdoo. "Though I approved it in principle."

Mr. McAdoo said his survey of the rail situation convinced him that government funds must go into them to make them efficient for the war plans.

Red Cross Notes

One of the best attendances of societies at the Red Cross headquarters ever held was yesterday afternoon when forty women of the St. Paul's Methodist church, worked in the various departments of the headquarters in the court house.

The members of the Red Cross Auxiliary of Anderson township resumed their work in the headquarters in Milroy this afternoon after the rooms being closed for a week on account of the cold weather. During the time the headquarters were closed, however, a large amount of sewing was done at the homes of the members.

Scarcity of Live Stock

For some time now it has been apparent to those who have given the matter thought, that the country is threatened with an alarming shortage of live stock—especially meat producing animals; though horses and mules are also showing a shortage.

When the war in Europe first began, it was suggested by our agricultural department that our farmers and stock raisers devote greater attention to increasing the number of meat animals. It was pointed out that the large foreign demand would make great inroads in our supply. This was the result, but not all the result. The stimulated demand caused prices to soar to abnormal figures. These prices in turn caused all who had stock to push them onto the market at the earliest moment, with the result that thousands of head of stock went to the butchers when it should have been kept on the farms.

Stock buyers inform us that for the past years the average weight of hogs especially has steadily declined, due to the fact that the heavy feeders have been practically exhausted and the lighter animals are being pushed onto the market.

At a meeting of food administrators of a number of states recently it was the unanimous decision, after surveying the situation carefully, that a concerted effort must be made to increase the breeding of hogs and cattle, and each state represented in the conference was given its per cent of increase to be attained.

But it is right at this point that the difficulty is encountered. The high prices have not only caused the immature animals to be sacrificed but thousands of valuable females have been slaughtered which should have been kept on the farms. There is not a particle of doubt that the country is alarmingly short of breeders.

There is but one remedy. No owner of hogs or cattle should sell or kill females capable of reproducing their kind. This should be made an iron-clad rule on the farms and ranches of this country for some time to come. Certain it is that if the post, or even the present rate of consumption of females is continued for another twelve months, the country will face something little short of a meat famine.

We are a meat-eating race. But meat must be grown and the animals must have dams. The only way to insure the supply is to conserve the females. This will have to be done, even at the risk of even higher prices than now prevail.

And as prices now range this will be no sacrifice to the farmers, but rather a source of greater revenue, as all will see if they will look at the matter in the right light.

In a weekly magazine of October 6, 1917, Edward C. Lowry, veterinarian in the "Emergence" Mr. Baker, undoubtedly if he were to write an article about the scarcity of meat animals, would be right. The scarcity of meat animals is a real problem.

The scarcity of meat animals is a real problem. The scarcity of meat animals is a real problem.

Amusements

Seldom does a playwright win so signal a success as that already credited to Clare Kummer, author of "Good Gracious Annabelle" the sprightly and brilliant comedy at the Murat Theatre for four nights and a Saturday matinee commencing Wednesday, January 23. But such unusual success does not happen accidentally. Miss Kummer who is the niece of William Gillette, one of the most popular stars on the American stage, has already proved her skill as a writer before she turned to the drama. Besides she has learned the technique of the playwright's profession during a fairly long experience as a reviewer of plays. Her experience as a song writer polished her pen, while her work as a play doctor gave her insight into the fine art of giving the "playgoing" public what that very alert and critical public wants.

"Good Gracious Annabelle" is therefore the first dramatic essay of a particularly well qualified author, a keen observant woman, who can write sparkling lines, sketch character vividly and keep an audience in high spirits all evening, with her play of wit and humor. All these fine qualities are to be found in this comedy success announced for local presentation. New York, Chicago and Boston have all unanimously acclaimed this merry play as one of the rare treats combining jolly farce and light comedy replete with the wit and humor that delights the most critical auditor. Add to this fact that Arthur Hopkins has given the romantic comedy a highly praised production, marked by artistic judgment in the choice of players and so modish a scenic designer as Robert Edmund Jones, and the success with which "Good Gracious Annabelle" has scored among all classes of playgoers is easily understood.

The splendid cast of players, including Isabelle Lowe, Lydia Dickson, Robert Middlemass, Ralph Bunker, have been retained for the local engagement.
The Murat theatre agency here is at Hargrove and Mullin's drug store.

Word received from Chase Monjar of Los Angeles, Cal., son of Mrs. Ella Monjar of this city indicates that he will leave for France not later than the first of next month. He is a member of Company E of the twenty-third engineering corps and writes that part of the regiment have already left and that the remainder is ready to start on short notice.

THEIR FUTURE POLICY, CHURCHES PLAN

operate but if necessary stand ready to appoint a committee to assist in the supplying and distributing of fuel to the distressed of our city. After careful deliberation it was deemed wise and unanimously decided to enter upon the following plan in our church services for the present.
First, that each of the churches conduct the morning church service and Bible school according to the plan already in vogue but upon a plan as in a small portion of the church building as will answer the present emergency and thereby save as much fuel as possible.
Second, that for the present we dispense with the individual evening services and combine in a union service for this hour and that we make this union service decidedly religious but at the same time patriotic and popular, facing the important problems of the present time, and making it one of unusual interest. To this end a committee of laymen yet to be appointed is to serve with the ministerial association and seek to obtain the largest possible spirit of co-operation and efficiency.
It was the feeling that the church should serve the community in this crisis and that the public should also co-operate most heartily and fully in these services. So enthusiastic were many over the success of the meeting and the fine spirit of zeal and fellowship shown that there is a probability of continuing such a co-operation of laymen with the ministerial association in the form of a federal council for co-operation in all important problems facing the churches.
